Risk Disclosure

Vectora is a technology and software service provider. It is not a financial institution or investment firm, portfolio manager or financial adviser. The use of automated trading software involves material risks. No trading outcome, profit, level of performance or protection from loss is guaranteed.

This Risk Disclosure should be read together with the Company's Terms & Conditions, Privacy Notice, the Information Document and any product-specific information shown before purchase. It is intended to explain material risks associated with the use of Vectora, including risks arising from third-party software, third-party service providers and integrations. It does not replace the terms of any third party service provider, exchange, trading platform, data provider or other third-party service used by a user.

You should purchase or use Vectora's products only if you understand what the product is and the risks that come with it, and only if you are willing to accept those risks. Vectora's products run strategies across contracts for difference ("CFDs") which carry substantial risk. You must never commit funds you cannot afford to lose. CFDs might not be suitable for everyone.

By accessing the Site and by purchasing or using the Software, you expressly acknowledge and accept each of the following:

1. You should purchase the Software only if you understand what the product is and the risks that come with it, and you must be willing to accept those risks before using any product. Vectora's products run strategies across CFDs which carries substantial risk. You must never commit funds you cannot afford to lose, and you understand that this kind of trading is not suitable for everyone. Whether you purchase the Software should turn on your own assessment of whether it fits your experience, financial goals, and personal circumstances, and you should seek input from an investment adviser, financial professional, lawyer, or tax specialist about your financial situation before using the Software.
2. Vectora does not represent that any account or product will, or is likely to, produce gains or losses resembling any model portfolio, scenario, historical performance figure, or other data presented on the Site and that how any algorithm, strategy, or method performed in the past does not reliably indicate how it will perform in future. All information provided on the Site or the Software is provided for illustration only, are not investment, financial or trading advice or recommendation, and are not tailored to your personal financial situation. PAST PERFORMANCE NEITHER GUARANTEES NOR RELIABLY PREDICTS FUTURE OUTCOMES. Some results displayed may come from certain demo accounts and are not necessarily typical. Vectora does not promise nor guarantees any level of growth.
3. Algorithmic systems are inherently subject to limitations. Models may be based on historical data, assumptions, rules, statistical relationships or other inputs that may cease to be relevant or may perform differently in changing market conditions. AI-generated outputs may be incomplete, inaccurate, delayed, inconsistent or unsuitable for a particular market environment. The Company does not represent that any algorithm or strategy will identify profitable opportunities, avoid adverse market conditions or operate without error.
4. Vectora is not a trading venue, brokerage, or exchange, that Vectora neither pools nor holds any customer assets. Vectora is not a financial adviser, asset manager, or investment adviser, its products and services are not designed to deliver investment, tax, legal, or insurance advice. Vectora does not provide commodity trading advice based on or tailored to the positions or circumstances of any User, nor does it direct any third-party account. Everything on the Site is provided for information only, carries no recommendation, and must not be read as investment advice. Nothing provided by Vectora or its officers, employees, or contractors is an offer to sell or a solicitation of an offer to buy any security, nor a recommendation to buy or sell any security, and you alone are responsible for deciding whether any investment, security, strategy, product, or service is suitable for you in light of your objectives and your personal and financial situation.

5. Nothing set out on the Site is an invitation to trade any particular investment. The decision to use Vectora's products is yours alone. You must not risk any money you cannot afford to lose. Vectora does not take your individual financial and personal circumstances into account, the content accessible through the Site is intended for general informational purposes only and NOT as individual investment advice or recommendation, and failing to obtain detailed, personally-tailored professional advice before subscribing could lead you to act against your own best interests and to lose capital.
6. Vectora's products involve trading CFDs that trading CFDs carries a high level of risk and may not suit every investor. You may lose some or all of your investment, so you should not commit money you cannot afford to lose, and you should seek advice from an independent financial adviser if you are in any doubt.
7. Your use of the Site and of any Vectora product is at your sole risk. You acknowledge that Vectora does not guarantee that its products or the Site will be uninterrupted, error-free, or virus-free, or that the software will function as intended, and that Vectora's products may result in loss, including but not limited to loss of the ability to use the service, loss of principal in the trading account, loss of opportunity, loss of business and goodwill, monetary loss, and other losses connected with or arising from technology, such as technology failures, failure to execute a trade in time, failure to copy a trade correctly, loss, interruption, delay, or non-recovery of data, data breaches, lost, interrupted, or unavailable network, server, website, or other connections, and software malfunctions, errors, flaws, defects, bugs, and viruses. You acknowledge that Vectora is not liable for any loss or damage arising from its products or the Site, including from technical disruptions such as data loss, loss of profits, or business interruption; that the products and Site are provided "as is"; that you shall hold Vectora, together with its affiliates, officers, employees, principals, and directors, harmless from any loss or damage arising out of your use of them; and that Vectora gives no warranty in respect of the software, whether express or implied.
8. Market risk is the possibility of financial loss caused by movements in market prices, driven by factors including but not limited to interest rates, currency movements, commodities, and geopolitical events. Market risk may affect the performance of our products and, in turn, of your trading account; and you may lose some or all of your trading account balance.
9. The Software is a technological product and may experience errors, bugs, defects, delays, interruptions, unexpected behaviour or other technical or operational malfunctions and may not always operate as intended. The Software may also be used in connection with, or its operation may be affected by, third-party platforms, systems, services, infrastructure, data or technology ("Third-Party Services"). Third-Party Services are independent from Vectora and are not owned, operated, managed, supervised or controlled by Vectora. Vectora does not monitor, verify or make any representation regarding their operation, availability, performance, security, financial condition, regulatory status or continued compatibility with the Software. Software malfunctions and any acts, omissions, changes, restrictions, interruptions or failures relating to Third-Party Services may affect the operation or performance of the Software and may result in unintended trading activity, delayed or missed trades or financial loss. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, Vectora is not responsible for losses arising from matters outside its reasonable control or from the acts, omissions or failures of Third-Party Services or their providers.
